

MINIMUM SUBSISTENCE INCOME

Who can apply for it?

A person living alone or a cohabitation unit, that is, people living together united by family ties or as common-law partners, up to the 2nd degree of consanguinity.

In addition to exceptional cases, such as: victims of trafficking, sexual exploitation, victims of gender violence who have left the family home, people accompanied by their children and relatives in the process of divorcing or independent family units sharing a home, up to three family units per dwelling.

Applications submitted by 31 December 2020 will be retroactive from 01 June of the same year (in 2020 only). This is a permanent benefit and there is no deadline for submission.

Requirements

Personal

- 1 year of legal residency.
- Holder: 23 – 65 years of age except cohabitation units with minors.
- The cohabitation unit must be 1 year old.
- 3 years of independent domicile and 1 of economic independence for single people.
- In the event of not working, registration as a claimant of unemployment benefit (which can now be certified after submitting the application).

Income

- Not to exceed the guaranteed income for a cohabitation unit.

Equity

- Not to exceed the maximum amount of net equity not counting the dwelling:
- 1 person: € 16,614
- Add € 6,545 for each person in the unit.
- Maximum: € 43,196.40

IMV simulator
<https://ingreso-minimo-vital.seg-social-innova.es/>

What documentation needs to be submitted?

Identification. National Identity Card (DNI), family record booklet or birth certificate.

Legal residency. Enrollment with the foreign nationals registry, residency permit or residency card for relatives of EU citizens.

Address. Certificate of electoral registration.

Cohabitation unit. certificate of electoral registration (now conducted automatically), family record booklet, civil registry office certificate or enrollment with the register of common-law partners.

What is the procedure?

Once the personal requirements have been certified, the Department of Social Security will verify the income and calculate the benefit.

It will be paid in 12 installments.

There is no need to have submitted a declaration of income tax beforehand, but it must be submitted after receiving the assistance.

900 20 22 22

How do you apply?

- Through the website: www.seg-social.es
- Sending the documentation by ordinary mail.

